Professional Security Systems (PSS) is the only specialized magazine for security which exists 10 years and better than any media promotes security as a major issue, addressing a reader in a modern way, and according to the market demands. Our first issue was published in March 2004. and the magazine can be found at all newsstands in seven countries around. Serbia is the key market in the region because of its grown potential and geopolitical position.

A demand for security equipment grows with the investments in infrastructure and engineering every day. To meet this expanding security demands managers in Serbia and region get informed directly by PSS magazine only. The magazine PSS is A4 format, printed on 68 pages quality paper in full colour with gloss finished covers and is published every two months.

Take your opportunity, don't let anyone be ahead of you in this region. Do not hesitate, present yourself in our magazine Professional Security Systems.
